Few Firms Distributed Rate Refunds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Midsouth Gas Co., of Little Rock was the only major Arkansas distributor to distribute commission-ordered rate refunds received from interstate pipeline suppliers, the Power Commission said Wednesday.

The commission said Midsouth refunded the entire $152,019 it received and that this amounted to 97 per cent of the refunds received by the two distributors in Arkansas who replied in a survey.

Fort Smith Gas (Ark.) Corp. kept all of the $4,271 it received, the commission said. The Fort Smith firm said it had absorbed a rate increase without passing it along.

The commission also reported that nine Louisiana gas distributors gave to customers $401,401 of the $829,713 they received in refunds.

Four Louisiana distributors who received a total of $43,087 did not respond to the survey, nor did four Arkansas distributors who received $71,183.

Louisiana Gas Service Co., of Harley, La., passed along the largest refund, $391,312 of the $422,014 it received. United Gas Corp., Shreveport, La., kept the entire amount because it had absorbed a rate increase, the commission said.

U.S. Agents Shoot Man at Liquor Still

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—A Lewisville man who fired at a federal officer during an attempt to confiscate a whiskey still was seriously wounded by the agent, federal authorities said Wednesday.

Wilton Esters, 49, was taken to a Texarkana hospital with a chest wound and was reported in serious condition Wednesday night, agents said.

His son, Jerry Lee Esters, 21, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Thelma C. Winham of Texarkana on a charge of possessing and operating an illegal still.

The name of the agent was not released. Agents said several shots were fired near the still site. Jerry Lee Esters was arrested near his home and the elder Esters at a Lewisville hospital, agents said.

The still was capable of producing 30 gallons of whiskey a day, an agent of the federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit said. Thirty-five gallons of illegal whiskey and 24 barrels of fermenting mash were confiscated at the site.

Bonds Found in Church at Russellville

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bonds worth $101,000 have been recovered from beneath the floor of the church of the All Saints Episcopal Church in Russellville, attorneys R. J. White and James K. Young said.

White and Young represent Alfred Bronson Woodworth, 53, a Dardanelle grain broker who is charged with swindling the Bank of Russellville out of $160,000. The lawyers said they recovered the bonds.

They made their statement in a hearing in Pope Chancery Court Saturday. They said they placed the bonds in a bank and that the Federal Bureau of Investigation confiscated them on July 16.

Woodworth was arrested March 12 on federal charges of issuing false bills of lading on non-existent grain shipments in order to borrow money from the bank, said Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Little Rock FBI office.

Moore said Woodworth bought the bonds with part of the money obtained, and that made the bonds proceeds of a crime.

The attorneys said Woodworth claimed he had amnesia and did not remember where he put the bonds. The bonds were issued by Saline County, Arkansas State Teachers College, Arkansas State College, Shawnee School District of Mississippi County and the cities of Trumann, Marshall and Pine Bluff.

The attorneys said Woodworth was a member of the church. The chancery court hearing Saturday was on a petition by Woodworth's attorneys for the appointment of a receiver to look after his assets, including the bonds, until a decision is made on who should get them. Chancellor Richard Mobley took no action on the petition immediately.

Sizemore's wife, Joan, who does women's programming, will be on the staff at the new station. The license has been granted to Jacksonville Broadcasting Co., Inc. The president is C. S. Dupree. Benny Rice is general manager.

Governors Fail to Reap Benefits

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Scattered Democrats and Republicans emerged today from the cauldron of the 55th annual Governors' Conference with few political benefits to harvest.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who once was considered the leading candidate for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, picked up most of the publicity on the civil rights issue that seems to offer him his best opportunity to return to the front.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who was represented by supporters, nevertheless didn't lose any ground among GOP state executives who believe he is the man to beat.

GOP Gov. George Romney of Michigan, counted as a possible entry in the Republican presidential contest, chalked out a position as a strong civil rights advocate but as an angry critic of more federal direction of the nation's economic ills.

Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio, who fended off questions about the possibility of a favorite-son candidacy, glowed over the selection of Cleveland for the 1964 conference.

To Republican Gov. John Anderson Jr. of Kansas came the honor of the conference chairmanship after only two years in office. He succeeds Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington. The chairmanship rotates between the parties in alternate years.

The Republicans had to be declared the publicity winners. But the Democrats kept their lines intact for a pitch for Southern state support of Kennedy's certain bid for re-election next year.

Rails Agree to Delay of Thirty Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's railroads agreed today to put off for 30 days the posting of new manpower-trimming work rules. This averts a threatened nationwide strike next Tuesday.

Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, announced the decision at a House Commerce Committee meeting.

Loomis said the 195 carriers involved in the explosive work rules dispute would not impose the changes until 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29.

Loomis said the 195 carriers taking this step in order to cooperate with Congress which is considering President Kennedy's plan to turn the 4-year-old work rules controversy over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The chairman of the House and Senate Commerce committees had requested the delay Wednesday, saying Congress didn't have time to act by Monday evening.

When the request was made, Loomis' immediate response was to say the railroads would be forced to continue "unnecessary payments for work not needed or not performed."

Loomis said such expenditures

Missing Aged Fisherman Found Safe

GAINESVILLE, Mo. (AP)—A 53-year-old man who disappeared Tuesday while on a fishing trip in this rugged Ozark mountain country was found safe and unhurt today sitting on the porch of a postoffice in the tiny hamlet of Dugginsville.

Sheriff Kelley Sallee said the man, Garland B. Tharp of Independence, Mo., was hungry, thirsty and dirty but otherwise in fair condition. Hard of hearing and nearly blind, Tharp was unable to give a clear account of his wanderings during the 38 hours he was missing.

Tharp had been lost for two nights and a day. During this time he slept on the ground. "I had an awful time going to sleep," he told Sallee, "but I slept well after I got to sleep."

The elderly man was returned to the fishing cabin of his son, the Rev. E. H. Tharp, pastor of the First Church of God in Independence, where he was fed, given clean clothing and prepared for immediate return to the family home in Independence. The Tharp cabin is about a mile and a half from Dugginsville, near the shore of Bull Shoals Lake.

The fact Christine testified she slept alternately for a while with Profumo and Soviet naval attache Yevgeny Ivanov is the subject of a security inquiry.

A crowd of several hundred milled around outside the court building when Christine—the 21-year-old play-for-pay girl who caused John D. Profumo to resign last month as Britain's minister of war—tripped down the steps at the luncheon adjournment.

Women hissed and there were shouted insults.

The photographer who accidentally became an egghead was Bob Dear of The Associated Press.

Christine had been recalled by defense counsel James Burge for questioning about her use of Marijuana, a narcotic smoked in cigarettes, we touched on that in her first appearance in the witness box Monday.

Today she testified that Ward had introduced her to marijuana in 1961 when she was living at one of his flats. The defense said one witness for the 50-year-old society osteopath and artist would be Vasco Lazzolo, one of Britain's best known sculptors and painters.

Vickie Barrett, 22, a prostitute, testified Wednesday that a man named Lazzolo was among her clients. She said he paid her 4 pounds ($11.20).

Vickie testified she used Ward's apartment as a workshop on some 30 occasions, sometimes beating her customers with canes or horsewhips to give them sexual gratification.

Her normal fee, she said, was 5 pounds ($14) with whipping extra at 1 pound ($2.80) a stroke. She said Ward collected the money but never gave her a penny.

Ward has pleaded innocent to three counts of living off the proceeds of prostitution and two of procuring. Conviction could bring up to 25 years in prison.

Spectators Throw Eggs at Christine; Ward Admits Way of Life But Not for Money

By HAL R. COOPER

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward declared under oath today he never took anyone to the apartment of Christine Keeler and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies "for the purpose of introducing them for intercourse or anything like that."

The society osteopath and artist, who got his medical training at a college of osteopathy and surgery in Kirksville, Mo., took the stand in his own defense against vice charges carrying a penalty of up to 25 years in prison.

Ward, 50, agreed readily with a suggestion by his counsel, James Burge, that he is "a thoroughly immoral man" who likes the companionship of pretty girls.

One of those pretty girls, Christine, 21, was the target of two eggs and angry boos from spectators outside the Old Bailey criminal court as she left after giving further testimony in the trial's morning session.

One egg hit a newsphotographer in the head, another splashed on the sleeve of a policeman.

Christine hurriedly entered a taxi cab.

Burge told the jury in his opening statement for the defense that Ward lived a Bohemian life and had affairs with many women, but strongly denied the accusation that he was a procurer who lived off the earnings of prostitutes.

The trial is shedding additional light on a sex scandal which led to the resignation of John D. Profumo as Britain's war minister, shook Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government and tarnished the names of such figures as Lord Astor and former movie actor-producer Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Ward's lawyers had private detectives out looking for a dancer-model named Sylvia Parker—also known as Sharon Lee.

The lawyers said she might be abroad, possibly in Rome, London newspapers reported she might be in Las Vegas or New York.

Miss Parker was the girl friend of Tony Mella, a London mobster who was murdered last January. Soon after the shooting she was found in a Mayfair flat with her wrists and neck slashed, apparently in a suicide attempt.

Subsequently she stayed awhile in an apartment rented by Ward. The house "high" charges Ward used the apartment as a brothel.

MOSCOW (AP)—A partial nuclear test ban agreement was initialed today and W. Averell Harriman announced it will be signed in Moscow next week by Foreign Ministers of Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The chief U.S. negotiator, British Science Minister Lord Hailsham and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko hailed the agreement banning nuclear weapons tests in the air, outer space and under water.

Harriman told reporters the treaty will be signed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Gromyko at next week's ceremony.

MOSCOW (AP)—British and American experts were called to the Soviet Foreign Office again today to make last-minute revisions in the draft of a nuclear test ban treaty.

There continued to be solid optimism, however, that the treaty banning testing in the air, outer space and under water would be initialed this afternoon by representatives of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The meeting at the Foreign Office this morning came as a surprise, since the draft was reported to be final Wednesday.

There were strong reports that Premier Khrushchev wanted the treaty to be initialed in the Kremlin in his presence. This would give him an opportunity once again to stress how important he feels it is to get a supplemental

Showers Hit Most Areas of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers drizzled across eastern Arkansas again today as a blustering sun continued to wilt the western portion of the state.

An upper level low pressure center moving southwest turned on the faucet in eastern Arkansas and was expected to do a repeat performance Friday.

Cloud cover and shower activity held Wednesday's highs to the low 90s in eastern Arkansas, but Fayetteville and Fort Smith reported readings of 102 and 103, respectively.

Some isolated thundershowers activity was predicted for all but northeast Arkansas today, but temperatures again were headed for the 100-degree mark in the west.

Nearly an inch of rain was reported at Dardanelle Wednesday, while lesser amounts were recorded at Mena, Ozark, Warren, Helena, Portland, Clarksville and Brinkley.

Overnight low temperatures reported around the state this morning were generally in the upper 60s to the low 70s.

Traces of rain were reported at El Dorado, Texarkana and Pine Bluff during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m.

Lows of 65-72 were predicted for tonight while highs Friday were expected to range 78-88.

Northern Arkansas continued to have some dry spots, and hot temperatures in the northwest were not expected to help the situation.

Above normal temperatures were expected to necessitate precautions to avoid poultry loss in the west, but weather conditions elsewhere in the state were expected to continue to favor insect and weed control.

They said they were not charging that King was a Communist, but urging that the committee look into the matter.

Sen. AS Mike Monroney, D-Okla., wrote to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover after this testimony.

Hoover replied July 17 that he was turning the request over to Kennedy "in line with departmental policy."

State Leaders Play It Safe at Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state governors played so safe at their Miami conference it would have been no wonder if they went on record in favor of home, mother and helping old ladies cross the street.

The governors were so anxious to avoid trouble and controversy on any subject that they decided against adopting a resolution on anything.

Thus they saved themselves unpleasant explosions. Democrats outnumbered Republicans 3 to 1 and President Kennedy's Democratic administration had already proposed some things the conference wouldn't go on record for.

The governors went on record for:

1. Blocking a Republican effort to get the governors to approve strong civil rights action in this country.

2. Blocking an attempt to get the governors to approve Kennedy's medical care program for older people.

The conference did, however, take a very forceful stand in approving reports of committees on juvenile delinquency, education for the cold war and civil defense. On these three subjects, which can hardly cost any of them a single vote, the governors were unanimous.

Wednesday in Washington Kennedy told delegates from the American Legion's "Boy's Nation"—a make-believe federal government—they "showed more initiative in some ways than the Governors' Conference."

The boys, who divided themselves into federalist and nationalist parties in the election they held Wednesday, had strong civil rights planks in their platforms.

Two Republican governors, New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller and Oregon's Mark O. Hatfield, particularly pushed for a strong stand on civil rights. Rockefeller was also probably pushing his own presidential candidacy in 1964.

He announced the Republicans had become "the party of civil rights." This was too much for New Jersey's Democratic Gov. Richard Hughes who chided Rockefeller that his announcement amounted to a "24-hour miracle."

And Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney, also mentioned as a presidential possibility, swiped at the Kennedy administration, which is trying to get action on a civil rights bill.

He said the administration was trying to use the conference to "propagandize" although it was Rockefeller more than anyone who was urging a civil rights endorsement by the conference.

The conference didn't get any more fierce than this kind of give-and-take. But the governors' caution about taking a stand on anything controversial raises a question about their conferences of which this was the 53th.

Why bother having them at all

Trial Delayed by Balking Closet

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The pre-trial hearing of Teamster President James R. Hoffa in U.S. District Court Wednesday was delayed by a balky closet door.

The stuck door defied the best efforts of a husky U.S. marshal, several bailiffs and numerous attorneys. While the government sent for a carpenter, Hoffa removed his left shoe and flailed away at the hinges.

Judge Frank Grey called a recess until the carpenter broke open the door.

The closet contained the defense attorneys' briefcases.

Killed By Car

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—H. H. Loe, 89, of Rt. 1, North Little Rock, was struck by a car and killed Wednesday night as he attempted to cross Highway 161 south of Jacksonville. State police state the car striking Loe was driven by George C. Tiltman of Jacksonville.

if they won't take a stand for or against the big national issues?

The conference chairman, Washington's Democratic Gov. Albert D. Russellini, must have figured someone would ask that.

Earlier this year, months before the conference, he said: "Each governor is independent in his own state and has his own problems. We feel the conference, generally speaking, is more valuable for the exchange of information."

But the governors have become expert at ducking.

Last year they wouldn't take a stand on medical care, either, and when Southern Democrats began filibustering against even a weak civil rights proposal, that was abandoned also.

In 1961 they did, however, adopt a civil rights resolution. It was so watered down that year even the Southern Democrats didn't object. But in 1961 the governors did take a very firm stand in calling for action against communism.

If any governor got any personal benefit out of this year's conference it was probably Rockefeller. He had been in partial political eclipse since his second marriage.

In Miami his strong stand on civil rights got him more prominence and publicity than anyone there. He acted like a man who hadn't given up hope and will soon begin making a lot of speeches.

agreement quickly on an East-West nonaggression pact. Cautious Western negotiators could not rule out the possibility of more Soviet requests for revisions and appendages.

The greatest appendage proposed by the Soviet Union was for a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Communist states of the Warsaw Pact.

The chief Western negotiators, U.S. Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham, talked in great detail Wednesday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko about the nonaggression pact. They sought to prevent this issue from delaying the initialing of the test ban agreement.

Both Harriman and Lord Hailsham came to Moscow with authority to negotiate only the test ban and not to go further than a general discussion of a nonaggression pact, which would vitally concern the other 13 NATO Allies.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a letter to heads of African nations released Wednesday, said the partial test ban could result in a "radical turn toward a better international climate."

He added that a nonaggression pact between the Western and Communist alliances also would improve the international climate, but he did not say a nonaggression pact was a Soviet condition for agreeing to the test ban.

Khrushchev also offered Africa a guarantee not to use nuclear weapons (there if World War III broke out, provided the Western powers would make the same pledge).

The treaty, if it follows a Western draft presented before the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva a year ago, bans testing in the air, under water and in outer space by the signatory powers. The signers also are pledged not to aid in spreading nuclear weapons to other countries.

It has a safety valve permitting any nation to withdraw in 60 days notice if it suspects that one of the countries has violated the treaty, or that some other nation has detonated a nuclear device under circumstances impairing the security of any signer.

The treaty does not include underground testing because of the failure of the Western nations and the Soviets to agree on safeguards to detect violations.

Cost of renovating the building to meet the new firm's needs, including air conditioning of the ground floor, will be about $100,000, Buchanan said.

Appointment Would Be Political

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rumor that Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., might get a Supreme Court appointment whipped up quite a flurry in the capital this week.

Although the rumor appeared nothing more than that it nevertheless started lots of people thinking about possibilities and probabilities.

Mills said he knew of no substance to the rumor although he'd heard it. And, as the White House observed, there is no Supreme Court vacancy.

Supporting the possibility of a Mills' appointment are these facts and circumstances:

There has been speculation that Justice William O. Douglas might want to retire this year—he becomes 85 on Oct. 18 and has served more than 24 years on the high court.

Should there be a vacancy, the speculation goes, President Kennedy might want to name Mills—an able lawyer—and thus remove him as chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, to give Kennedy's tax and Medicare proposals more chance of clearing the committee. Should Mills leave the committee, Rep. Cecil King, D-Calif., would become chairman. King is regarded as more friendly to the administration proposals than is Mills.

Appointment of Mills would give the court an expert on tax law. Such an appointment also would be pleasing to the South.

But these circumstances would argue against such an appointment.

—There is no real foundation for thinking Douglas might quit.

—Mills signed the Southern Manifesto a few years ago and Kennedy might have trouble selling the appointment to northern liberals and civil rights advocates.

—Kennedy might not care to name a southerner to the court at this time.

—And moving Mills up the ladder in order to get King in as chairman of Ways and Means might lay the administration open to a criticism of brazen politics.

As to the rumor itself, the source—as is usual with Washington rumors—is difficult to trace. One newsman said he had it from a chap who had predicted the appointments of both Byron White and Arthur Goldberg to the court.

Francis Keppel, U.S. Education Commissioner, has supplied Congress with a list, by states, showing the number of persons 25 years or older who have less than five years of schooling.

Arkansas was seventh on the list, and exceeded only by Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The list showed that Arkansas had 94,000 persons 25 years of age or older in 1960. Of these 48,200, or 51.4 per cent, had attended school for less than five years.

A breakdown showed that of those involved, 83,600 were whites and 64,600 non-whites. The percentages of those with less than five years of schooling figures out to 10.6 per cent for the whites and 36.3 per cent for the non-whites.

Percentage-wise, Arkansas ranked seventh among the states in point of whites with less than five years of schooling and eighth in number of non-whites in the same category.

by the railroad industry are "intolerable under present conditions."

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, told a reporter industry officials will confer this morning on their answer to the postponement request.

Wolfe said the reply will be framed before he and Loomis take the witness stand for the second day of hearings before the House Commerce Committee.

Its chairman, Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said Congress does not have time to act on the Kennedy plan before the work rules-strike deadline.

Pastore warned that several senators already have prepared resolutions to force a 30-day standstill in the dispute.

"But it would be most unfortunate for Congress to have to take that kind of action," Pastore said.

Harris made his plea for postponement as the House committee opened hearings on the administration plan to have the commerce commission handle work rules issues for the next two years, unless the unions and the railroads negotiate a settlement.

Key issue in the controversy is the makeup of the crews that operate trains. The railroads want to do away with some 60,000 jobs including those of 32,000 firemen and impose a variety of other rule changes.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz argued the administration's case before the House committee for six hours Wednesday, while Loomis and Wolfe appeared before the Senate committee's four-hour night hearing.

Loomis said the executive board of his association unanimously approved Kennedy's proposal.

Earlier, H. E. Gilbert, the head of the independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said in St. Louis the five unions are all opposed.

Whitten-Chandler Vows Exchanged

At 3 p. m. July 14 in the sanctuary of the Calvary Baptist Church, Miss Katherine Ann Whitten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Whitten, and Jerry Shan Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Chandler of Ft. Worth, were united in matrimony. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Whitten of our city, and the bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Nusco, also of Hope.

The Rev. Ernest Whitten of Minneapolis, Minn., officiated at his sister's wedding before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli. Mrs. Florence Hicks, pianist, played a program of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Jamie Williams when she sang "Always."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white satin and lace. The lace bodice had a scooped neckline, and the long, lace sleeves ended in lily points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell from a satin headpiece. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations.

Mrs. J. W. Walhall of Dallas, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Another sister, Miss Betty Sue Whitten, was the bridesmaid. They wore blue tulle and cotton street-length dresses fashioned with short sleeves. With them were worn matching bandeaux, and they carried white bouquets.

Delton Calhoun was the groom's best man, and Clyde McGlothlin of Grand Prairie, Tex., was the groomsmen. Ushers were J. W. Walhall of Dallas and Johnny Whitten brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Whitten, chose to wear brown and white silk with white accessories. Mrs. Chandler, mother of the groom, wore pink jersey with white accessories. Each had a white carnation corsage.

A reception followed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nusco, grandparents of the bridegroom. Colorful garden flowers were seen throughout the home. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of daisies. Miss Claudia Anderson of Fulton and Miss Arlene Wagner of Texarkana served the cake and punch. Mrs. Bobby Arnold presided over the bride's book.

Those from out of town at the wedding and reception included Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Whitten of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hartman of Hot Springs; Tom Gardner of Minneapolis, Miss.; Mrs. Clyde McGlothlin and family of Grand Prairie, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nusco and family and James Dodson, all of Jackson, Miss.

For travel the bride wore yellow cotton with white accessories and pinned a corsage of white carnations at her shoulder. After a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will be at home in Dallas at 1430 Bennett.

Whitman-Gammill Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Gammill were hosts at a dinner party Saturday night, July 20th, at the Hope Country Club following the rehearsal of the wedding of Miss Anna Kathryn Whitman and Otto Gene Gammill, Jr.

The dinner was served buffet style from a dinner table that was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white stock and white ponies flanked on each side by silver candelabra holding white candles and garlanded with Baker's fern and white ponies. Little nosegays of white flowers made dainty centerpieces on green cloths covering the quarter tables. The favors were exquisite miniature brides and grooms.

Sharing the occasion with the bride couple and their hosts were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Whitman, parents of the bride and Miss Edwina Whitman, John Gammill, Miss Susan Gammill, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Franks, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Howse, John Rovers, Al Silliman, Mr. and Mrs. John Tabor, Andrew Norris, Miss Sydney Tooke, Gene Anderson, Miss Evelyn Munson, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wallace, Colonel and Mrs. Glenn Norris, Stevie Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Munford, Mrs. Hughes Ratliff, Mrs. Gil Barrett, Ginny Barrett and Becky Barrett.

The betrothed couple chose this time to present gifts to their wedding attendants.

Wallace, Mrs. Gil Barrett, Mrs. Harold Norris and Mrs. Gordon Norris. On the long luncheon table was an arrangement of white stock and royal daisies garlanded with English Ivy and small daisies.

Beautiful hand painted place cards marked the places of the guests.

Sharing the occasion with Miss Whitman and the hostesses were Mrs. Eddie Whitman, the mother of the honoree, Mrs. O. G. Gammill, the mother of the groom, Miss Edwina Whitman, Miss Sydney Tooke, Miss Evelyn Munson, the brides attendants and the following out of town guests: Mrs. Bob Norris, Mrs. David Norris, Mrs. Glen Norris, Mrs. Bobby Riche, Mrs. Charles Munson, Mrs. Henry Brewer, Miss Faith Brewer, Miss Susie Brewer, Mrs. Malcolm Williams, Mrs. Robert Shannon, Mrs. Bill Howse, Mrs. Ben Norris and Miss Dot Ratliff.

The House of Dior, a recognized fashion leader, tightly strapped down bosoms but left them to bulge seductively in vampire sheaths and low, square necklines.

Bloused cocktail dresses were left wide open, revealing almost the entire bosom.

Designer Marc Bohan, in the fall and winter designs given their first showing this morning, lifted waistlines in shifts and chemise dresses—mostly in the evening models—to just below the pushed-up bosom. The torso was elongated.

Committee Give Okay to Cotton Bill
WASHINGTON (AP) - The long-delayed cotton bill was approved Wednesday by the House Rules Committee, but whether it will get through the House, or even when it will get there, remained uncertain.

The bill would enable domestic mills to buy U.S. cotton at the world price and end the present two-price system for cotton by means of a domestic subsidy offsetting an 8 1/2-cent per pound export subsidy.

Cotton state House members, generally Southerners, have provided the principal support for the proposal, with Republicans and some northern Democrats strongly opposed.

The bill has become involved in a complicated situation on a bill that would authorize additional spending by the Area Redevelopment Administration.

There has been talk around the Capitol of southern and northern blocs swapping support for the two measures. The ARA bill would be brought up first. If it passed, the House would consider the cotton bill.

The $455 million ARA bill was defeated by five votes in the House earlier this year, with about 60 Southerners voting against it. A similar bill passed by the Senate is now pending in the House Banking Committee.

The whole situation was further complicated by publication Wednesday in the Federal Register of an ARA regulation requiring all applicants for ARA grants to comply with rules against non-discrimination and equal opportunity in employment.

This may make the ARA bill unpalatable to Southerners.

License Law on Trucks Ruled Legal
LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Circuit Judge William J. Kirby ruled a truck licensing law constitutional in a test case Wednesday and fined a Little Rock man $50 for violating it.

Kirby granted Rodman S. McQuiston, 58, an appeal to the state Supreme Court and suspended the fine.

McQuiston's arrest had been arranged last week. He had appealed to the circuit court from a $50 fine on conviction in Little Rock traffic court.

The law, Act 73 of 1963, amended a 1929 law establishing Natural Resources (NR) license tags, which cost a minimum of $50. It made it illegal for trucks hauling crushed stone to be used in Arkansas River bank stabilization and reclamation work to operate with NR tags.

The 1929 law established NR tags for trucks traveling mainly on farms and unimproved country roads, hauling forest products, ore and other natural resource products pertaining to conservation.

McQuiston's attorney, O. D. Longstreth Jr., argued that trucks

Rockefeller Calm Over Barry Gains
An AP News Analysis
By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - Strategists in Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's political planning division take calmly the accounts of Sen. Barry Goldwater's growing strength in such states as Arkansas, Maryland and Idaho.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator are the two men most prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination for president next year, although neither has formally announced as a candidate.

Many observers think Goldwater is well ahead. Even Rockefeller's most ardent supporters concede the governor lost ground this year when he married the divorced mother of four children.

Nevertheless Rockefeller is mounting a strong campaign for carrying crushed stone would be entitled to the NR tag if their destination had nothing to do with bank stabilization or reclamation, making the law discriminatory.

Kirby said he agreed that truckers hauling stone to the river were penalized under the law, but said they were paying for a privilege not a right.

If a right was involved, he said the law would be unconstitutional.

Kirby said the attorney might ask the Supreme Court for a special meeting on the case before the state Revenue Department starts enforcing the act Aug. 1.

the nomination.

Reports of Goldwater's strength are interpreted here not by numbers of states but by delegate strength in the nominating convention next July.

Details such as these occupy practical politicians, rather than the liberal vs. conservative philosophical debate that is attracting public attention.

There will be 53 delegations at the convention—the 50 states plus the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. They will comprise 1,308 delegates. A majority of 655 votes will be needed for nomination.

This is the way the Rockefeller strategists view the situation: Goldwater's main strength lies in the South, Southwest and Midwest. Give him every vote in every delegation from the 28 states in those regions and he would have 573—short of the nomination.

The nine big industrial states—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and California—will have a total of 512 votes. Rockefeller is counting on strong support from them.

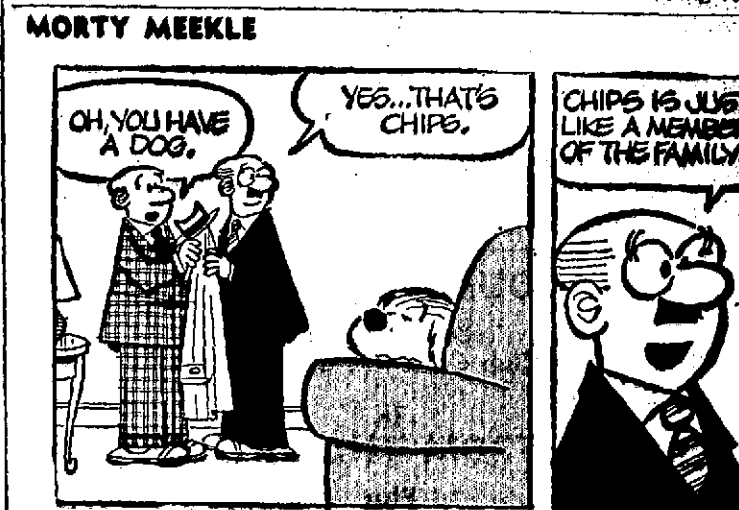

He also looks to the 70 votes in the rest of New England, the 60 votes in the Western states of Oregon, Washington and Colorado and to the 37 votes in the combined delegations from Alaska, Hawaii, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Other states are harder to classify, even in general terms.

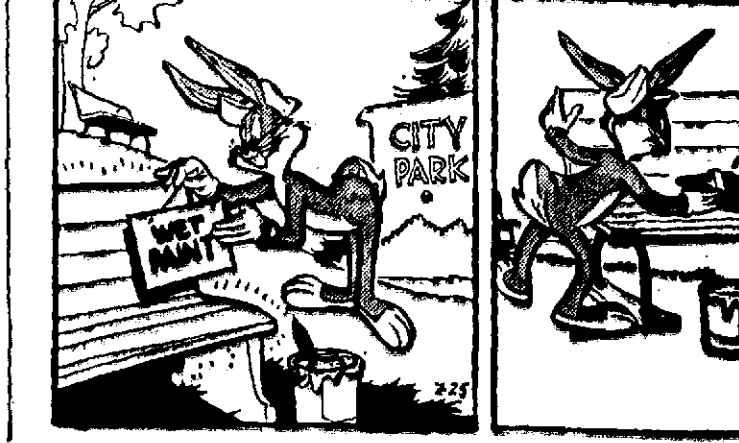

The arithmetical exercises assume, of course, a convention showdown between Rockefeller and Goldwater.

Some observers are talking of a

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ray Green of Little Rock was trying to remember the ZIP code number of a friend. He decided to use an old memory trick—listing all serial, telephone, drivers license and similar numbers a person should be able to recall readily.

An hour and a half and 173 numbers later, the ZIP Code number of the friend appeared.

Green still wasn't able to mail the letter—by that time he had forgotten the address.

Staff writer Clarence Taylor of the Pine Bluff Commercial, wonders why, if cross pollination can produce tomatoes from potato vines, some bright person hasn't produced a dual purpose plant—tomatoes above the ground and potatoes under.

His question was prompted by a report that Mrs. R. G. Davis thought she was getting tomatoes from her Irish potato vines. She finally agreed the produce might have been the above-ground fruit of the vine described in encyclopedias.

But then a North Little Rock woman reported the same thing. A plant pathologist brought in the cross pollination possibility.

Nature has produced yet another oddity—this time in Jonesboro.

Ray Schultz has come up with an ear of corn that looks perfectly normal on the outside, but inside, each individual grain of corn is individually packaged with a separate shuck.

A returned vacationer from Batesville spotted this sign on the side of a Texas school building: "We Give Big Bonus Stamps."

Suicide Ruled in Man's Death
LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Pulaski County Coroner Howard A. Dishong ruled suicide Wednesday in the death of Harold Green, 21, of near Little Rock, who was found shot eight times with a .22 caliber rifle.

Dishong said most of the wounds were superficial. Green was found Tuesday in a parked car near Little Rock.

Rockefeller, Goldwater, stalemate that could send the convention searching for other candidates.

Denies Rate Hike to Railways
LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The state Commerce Commission denied Wednesday a request by the latter railroads for a round of intrastate rail freight increases.

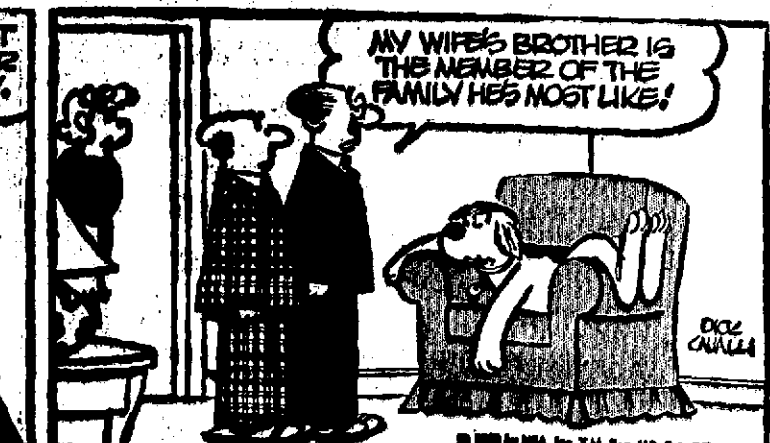

Kay L. Matthews, chairman of the commission, said the railroads failed to prove that a 1958 increase was insufficient to meet rising operating costs.

Another case by the same railroads to get an additional increase on freight hauled within the borders of Arkansas is still before the commission.

Kennedy Gets Job Done for Chicago Cubs

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Barring a complete disintegration of his forces, Bob Kennedy of the incredible Chicago Cubs appeared a certainty today to be voted 1966 National League manager of the year.

But hold on there. How can one bestow a managerial accolade upon a coach, even if he has been designated as head coach?

Cub owner Philip K. Wrigley, insists there is no manager on his club.

Kennedy, in his first year with the Cubs, is last on the list of 12 Chicago coaches appearing in the National League green book. But he is the acknowledged boss on the field. So much so that he's been there all year. In each of the past two years, the Cubs rotated their "head coaches," using at least three per season.

Regardless of his title, Kennedy has done a magnificent job. He has had the Cubs, a preseason pick to battle the Mets and Colts for eighth place, in pennant contention virtually from opening day.

Wednesday the third-place Cubs defeated Cincinnati 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Dick Ellsworth to advance to within a game of the second place St. Louis Cardinals who were beaten 8-1 by the Milwaukee Braves.

Nine games over .500, the Cubs are eight games in back of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers who defeated the Pittsburgh

Overall Power Credited for Yank Success

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"The catchers are carrying this ball club," said Yankee catcher Elston Howard.

"We've got the best infield in baseball," said Ralph Houk, Yankee manager.

"New York's got that great overall power," said Johnny Pesky, Red Sox manager.

"They've come up with a couple of fine young pitchers in Al Downing and Jim Bouton," said Bill Rigney, Los Angeles manager.

So maybe they've all forgotten Whitey Ford? At least no one seems to be talking about him.

Ah, well, maybe there's no reason to. He's just won 12 in a row, 16 in all and, as usual, is shouldering the burden of the important pitching chores as the Yankees go bombing along toward another pennant.

The 34-year-old left-hander was no more excited than a businessman is walking to the office Wednesday as he turned in a workmanlike 8-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, the Yankees' sixth straight. He allowed only six hits and struck out eight before giving way to a pinch hitter after seven innings.

Minnesota's Twins got good pitching performances from Dick Stigman and Jim Kaat in a double blanking of Cleveland, 9-0 and 5-0; Kansas City swept two from Boston, 5-2 and 7-6; Baltimore overcame a four-run deficit and beat Washington 8-5, and Chicago defeated Detroit 3-1.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers stretched their lead to seven full games in a 5-1 triumph over Pittsburgh while Milwaukee bombed St. Louis 8-1. The Chicago Cubs edged Cincinnati 2-1, Philadelphia shaded Houston 6-1 and San Francisco rallied for three runs in the ninth to beat New York's Mets 4-3.

Ford's victory put him in a tie with the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax and the Giants' Juan Marchant as the majors' top winner of the season and he extended his own mark as the most consistent winner in the history of the game among pitchers who have won 100 or more.

His lifetime mark of 721 leads the all-time list. Spud Chandler is next at 699-43, 717. John Blanchard, a converted catcher, pressed into service in the Yankees' injury-riddled outfield, once again provided the big hitting. He drove in four runs on a homer and two singles and scored twice.

Minnesota's Stigman was supported by an 11-hit attack that included two homers by Don Mincher and four-baggers by Rich Rollins and Johnny Goryl in the first-game victory.

Jim Hall's ninth-inning homer broke a scoreless duel in the nightcap and Kaat put it out of reach with a three-run blast.

He struck out 11 and allowed only six hits.

John Herrstein, Norm Gigon and Lee Elia socked solo home runs for the Travelers, but it was left to Smith to quell a Toronto rally in the ninth inning and save the game. Paul Brown, the second of four Arkansas pitchers, got credit for the victory, his 10th against seven defeats.

Bipartisan No Answer, Johnson Says

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. AP — Admired by Vice President Lyndon
B. Johnson that partisanship is no answer, the nation's government continued a staccato political fire today in the civil rights controversy.

Johnson told the 55th annual Governor's Conference at its formal state dinner Tuesday night that public leaders could not keep their trust "by exploiting the issue for partisan ends or discussing its resolution for personal advantage."

"American politics must not be less responsible than the electorate it serves," Johnson said.
"There can be no Democratic answer or Republican answer, no
White House or state house answer, no 1964 answer, but only a responsible American answer achieved by all of us, at all levels, working together all of the time for and with the people."

Only a few hours earlier, the Democrats had blitzed Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and other Republican state executives at the climax of a three-day fight to put the Democratic-dominated Government's Conference on record as favoring strong civil rights action.

Taking advantage of their 3-1 margin, the Democrats rolled over the Republicans who were threatening to steal their publicity thunder on the civil rights question.

A motion by Democratic Gov.
John Dempsey of Connecticut to instruct the conference executive committee to give priority to civil rights in its operations in the next year won by a 38-3 vote.

Democratic Govs. George C.
Wallace of Alabama, Ross Barnett of Mississippi and Donald S.
Russell of South Carolina voted
"no."

"There was a little political sugar for everybody in this method of settling the civil rights matter.

crats got credit for authoring the motion by which the conference directed its new nine-member ate with the President and various agencies in the field of improving racial relations.

"Under the rule that gives the party that does not hold the chairmanship a majority on this particular committee, Democrats would outnumber Republicans 5-4 and thus control the policies to be pursued.

Republicans could claim that by the verbal pounding they gave the issue, they forced the Democrats to act. Democrats wiped out the resolutions committee and all resolutions in order to avoid a conference filibuster over civil rights.

the principal objective of his drive, a continuing examination of the racial situation.

Reaction to Tax Hike Is Limited

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Members of the Arkansas Highway Commission said today reaction had been limited and varied to proposals to increase the gasoline tax to get more money for road building.

The commissioners said they found the public in agreement with the idea that more money was needed but ready to argue about how it should be obtained.

Commission Chairman Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart said he had received two or three letters and a telegram supporting his position that the gasoline tax should be raised one cent a gallon.

Commissioner Truman Baker said he had checked over his district and found unanimous agreement that more money was needed but disagreement over whether a gasoline tax increase, a license fee increase or a bond issue would be the best way to get it.

Hampton was asked about a remark by Gov. Orval E. Faubus that he (Faubus) might support a gas tax increase if the money were earmarked for rural roads.

BLENDS BLUE CHEESE, BERRIES

Summer Delight Salad

This Summer Delight Cheese Ring, which features strawberries and creamy blue cheese, is delightful for a meatless luncheon or a refreshing supper, when served with sliced ham. Zesty American blue cheese adds a gourmet touch to the frothy molded salad.
Besides being delicious, American blue cheese is easy on the budget. Garnished with greens and whole berries, this light molded salad is rich in appetite as well as eye appeal.

"I would endorse earmarking if that is the best route to get more money," Hampton said. "If we had a certain amount of money earmarked, we might be able to save something out of the money we are now spending on rural roads."

Hampton said the commission had decided to proceed with plans for construction of a new state headquarters building on Interstate Highway 30 southwest of Little Rock and an estimated cost of slightly under $2 million.

He said construction would take two years.

The commission approved a number of betterment projects today, including:

Surfacing 5.8 miles of Highway
77 in Mississippi County at a cost of $18,800.

Resurfacing 11 miles of selected sections of Highway 14 between the Jackson County line and Harrisburg, $33,500.

Replacing timber bridges on Highway 275 between the Louisiana state line and Strong with metal culverts, $12,900.

Surfacing seven miles of Highway 282 between Van Buren and Rudy, $40,300.

Surfacing four miles of Highway 32 between Shover Springs and the Nevada County line, $66, 800.

Benton Has 3rd Furniture Plant

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Benton's
third furniture factory, the Blair Co., will be in operation in about two weeks.

It will make living room furniture and the initial sales area is Arkansas, said co-owners Reece
Smithers and Robert Parsons of Benton.

A 6,000-square foot building is almost completed.

Republicans Canvass Perry

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Republican Party headquarters at Little Rock announced Tuesday that a canvass of voters in the state has been started, with the first count being taken in Perry County.

The statement said 30 interviewers had talked to about 95 per cent of the 2,541 poll tax holders in that county.

Purpose of the survey is to determine party loyalty, how many people are qualified to vote, how many vote regularly and whether they voted in the last election.

erville, $21,200.

Kitchen Queens' Royal Dish Is Easy Tuna Crown Salad

Here's a pretty switch on a perennial summer favorite—tuna salad goes glamorous West Coast style. Crowned with bright fruits, this nutritious main-dish salad is a cinch to make and a positive pleasure to serve.

For all its elegant appearance, Tuna Crown Salad rates just as high in nutrition as it does in looks. A serving of canned tuna provides more first-class protein than a comparable serving of red meat, plus valuable vitamins and minerals. Tuna is high in poly-unsaturates, and it's easily digestible, due to a minimum of connective tissue. Wise choice for weight-watchers, drained tuna solids contain less calories than equivalent quantities of popular meat cuts.

Tuna Crown Salad
1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna 1 tablespoon capers, in vegetable oil optional
1/2 cup each diced celery, 1 teaspoon minced onion sliced cantaloupe and 1 teaspoon ginger sliced grapes 3 tablespoons mayonnaise

Combine drained tuna and remaining ingredients. Reserve oil for cooking purposes. Pack tuna mixture into a 2-cup measure.
Invert on bed of shredded lettuce. Garnish with avocado slices and orange sections. YIELD: 2 to 3 servings.

CUSTOM-MADE SHIRT

By ELIZA MACBETH

Jerry put on his custom-made shirt, an act simple in itself but pregnant with tremendous possibilities.

Mrs. O'Malley watched him dumbly as he fastened the cuffs. The donning of that shirt marked soul-stirring epochs in her son's life—and they numbered three.

The first when—gun in pocket—he set out to find the man who had stolen his sweetheart and who luckily escaped.

The second was when they laid his father Tim under the sod after that accident on the construction job. The third took place when he ripped the town wide open the night before he enlisted in the Marines to go to Korea.

Mrs. O'Malley remembered when Jerry got the shirt. He had a good job then and was starting to take pride in his clothes. Then he got a girl.

"I'm gonna get me a real nice shirt," he told his mother. "A tailor-made job, something that fits me like I grew it over my skin."

Mrs. O'Malley had applauded. She wanted Jerry to look nice. But on the day he got the shirt from the tailor, he learned about the girl. The one he bought the shirt for had run off with another man.

Only luck had kept Jerry from becoming a murderer in that custom-made shirt.

He didn't wear it again till his father died. It was a sad occasion then. When he joined the Marines Jerry had been exuberant—but on the prod.

Mrs. O'Malley eyed the shirt, fascinated, terrified. Pure white, it was, and woven of imported materials and carefully made to measure by hand—a shirt for special occasions indeed, but to Mrs. O'Malley the devil's own shirt. She wished that it would remain in the bottom of the drawer forever. It only spelled trouble.

Yet she did not question Jerry. Not since he reached silent manhood had she questioned his comings and goings. He was an enigma that she accepted and worshipped in awed silence.

He paused in the doorway, bade her good night and lumbered down the stairs. The house was unusually still. The old violinist in the flat below whose instrument usually waited far into the night was as silent as the heart of a corpse. Only distant noises faintly punctured the quiet.

Mrs. O'Malley fidgeted, fussed with her patching only to throw it aside. She made a cup of tea but it tasted bitter and she threw it in the sink. She tried waiting quietly by the window but her muscles began twitching with nervousness. From a nearby street came the siren of a patrol car and her heart stood still.

Immediately she reproached herself for disloyalty to Jerry. He probably was headed for the date of the month and the shirt was of no significance. Yet try as she would she could not avoid the feeling that the custom-made shirt stood for something momentous.

She went into the kitchen and looked at the clock. It had stopped at nine. Fear and superstition ran like a tremor through her.

"Oh, Lord!" she clasped her plump little hands. "If it's that blackguard who stole his sweetheart, hide him, please, God."

She went out into the long hallway and walked up and down. This calmed her a little. She reasoned that she was Jerry's mother until the end of all things, and that whatever transpired, however bad it might be, she would follow him and comfort him. She returned to the living room and sat down in the rocker.

Moments later she heard the street door open and Jerry's heavy steps ascending the stairs. Mrs. O'Malley gripped the arms of the chair, her face the color of moonlight.

Jerry came in casually enough, carrying several paper bags. The shirt was as neat and unwrinkled as when Jerry left. But this didn't tell Mrs. O'Malley a thing.

"Sure an' I thought you'd been kidnaped, Jerry," she forced her trembling lips to smile. Jerry laid the bags on the table. He grinned and bowed awkwardly.

"I was made foreman today over five others," he said. "I thought we'd celebrate with a little cake and ice cream. Had a hard time getting the cake. Most of the stores were closed." His smile expanded, his chest swelled proudly under the handsome white custom-made shirt. "Didn't tell you before. Wanted it for a surprise. Good Lord, what's the matter?"

She never did tell him why she all but fainted.

Not Bitter About Busted Romance

By JESSE BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Just say I'm through with men. They're bad for me and I'm bad for them."

Other than that, Mamie Van Doren claims she's not the least bit bitter about her busted romance with Bo Belinsky, the Richard Burton of baseball.

Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Little Rock, said Hunter was charged with robbing the Farmers and Merchants Bank. He said Hunter had $501 on him when arrested.

Moore said Hunter had relatives in Arkansas.

Hunter was to have a hearing before U. S. Commissioner John E. Coates at Little Rock this afternoon.

The blonde sexpot is back home for the first time since Bo announced he had bailed at matrimony with Mamie.

"The first I knew about it was when I read it in the papers," says Mamie. "Bo announced the engagement. I guess he had the right to denounce it."

Mamie, unlike some other Hollywood queens, returned the engagement ring.

"I somehow got the feeling," she says, "that if I didn't, he might have cut off my finger, or worse, made me take over the payments."

Since leaving Mamie, Bo is back pitching — baseballs, not woo. He finally reported to Hawaii of the Pacific coast League where the Los Angeles Angels farmed him last May.

"If Bo could only pitch strikes like he pitches woo," says Mamie, "the Angels would have been in first place by now. I think we got engaged after our first date, know what I mean?"

Definitely shelved is a movie, "Pirate Woman," co-starring Mamie and Bo.

Phone Firms Begin War of Words

By JAMES BAON

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and Allied Telephone Co. began a war of words before the Arkansas Public Service commission today.

The dispute is over new toll ticketing equipment Allied wants to test at Sheridan, Ark.

Bell opposes the tests because it has an agreement to handle Allied's long distance traffic from Sheridan and the equipment would confuse relay service.

The hearing may last several days.

The city of Sheridan entered the case on behalf of Allied and said that it would be proud to be a

"Bo was to play a swashbuckler pirate. He's got kind of an Errol Flynn flair about him. That's his trouble."

guinea pig for the experiment. W. Lee Tucker, attorney representing the city, told the PS that new procedures usually are tested and put into use elsewhere long before they come to Sheridan.

"Our city was overjoyed at being selected for this test and we were disappointed by Bell's objections. We were upset by Bell's insulting tone that we do not have the ability to adjust to change," Tucker said.

H. R. Wilbourne Jr. of Little Rock, president of Allied, testified that the experiments might yield a system by which long distance collect and credit card calls could be made without the aid of an operator. Long-distance dialing on station-to-station calls already is in effect in many cities.

Edgar Mayfield, attorney for Bell, said that if the test were started at Sheridan, the calls would have to be routed over Southwestern Bell lines to Pine Bluff and out over the state and nation.

"We certainly should make certain the customers have long distance service provided that is

Man Is Found Shot to Death

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski County authorities are investigating the death of Harold Green, 21, of Little Rock, found shot in the chest three times with a .22 caliber rifle Tuesday.

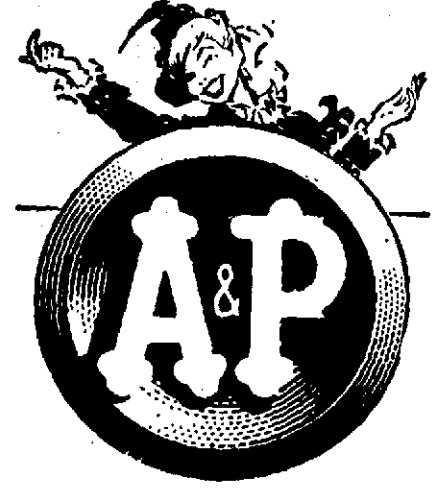

Sheriff's Deputy Elmer Miller said Green was found lying in the front seat of his parked car on a street south of Little Rock. The rifle had been fired six times, Miller said.

Coroner Howard A. Dishongh did not rule on the case Tuesday.

simple, uniform, economical and understandable," he said. He said the proposed test would not solve any important problems, but would create problems for Bell in relaying the calls.

Ray Thornton, attorney for Allied, suggested that Bell's objections could be resolved by the PS permitting the test with the stipulation that the traffic agreement between the companies could be terminated after February on 60 days notice.

New Flavors Spark Tomato Juice

You can retain the sun-ripened goodness of this year's tomato crop if you will devote a few hours to making and canning fresh tomato juice. It will taste mighty good come winter.

High in vitamins, low in calories, tomato juice can cost you as little as 6 to 12 cents a quart. The cost depends upon the source of the tomatoes.

Tomato juice is an excellent substitute for sweet, bottled drinks for children. Let them play at mixing, making their own choice of seasoning—and they'll learn to love it. Tomato juice is a boon to weight watchers, too, for a cupful adds up to only 50 calories.

Prepare your juice without seasoning, and store it away. When you plan to use it, take down a jar or two several hours in advance of serving time. That's the time to add the seasoning, or combination of seasonings, your favorite taste tantalizers—dill, garlic, herbs or saucers. Then put into the refrigerator to chill while the seasonings mellow. Be adventurous—try curry, chili powder, mint or sage. It's fun to experiment, and variety, too, adds spice.

Tomato juice is easy to make at home. One bushel (53 lbs.) of sound tomatoes will make 12 to 16 quarts of juice.

The principles are simple—wash, rinse, drain, core and quarter red-ripe tomatoes. Simmer in covered kettle until soft, then put through food mill or sieve to remove seeds and skins. Reheat juice almost to boiling and pour to within one quarter inch of the top of fruit jars. You may, if you like, add one teaspoon of salt to each quart. Put dome lids on jars, screw bands tight, and process in boiling water bath canner. Pints require 15 minutes, quarts 15 minutes.

Chickens and Turkeys Are Good Buys

Turkeys, chickens, canned tuna and peanut butter have this in common this weekend—they offer shoppers lots of protein at bargain prices.

Beef, pork and lamb, the more popular sources, are still plentiful. But prices continue to edge higher.

Broiler-fryer chickens enjoy special attention in the Northeast and Southeast. They are considered best buys at many shops in both regions.

Beef features include rib, chuck and round roasts.

Pork attractions lean to smoked and cured varieties, with hams and picnics leading the list.

Variety meats and cold cuts offer economical eating in some areas.

Vegetables features include green beans, cabbage, squash, celery, potatoes, sweet corn, peppers, cucumbers, lettuce, peas and onions. Tomato prices vary, low some places where nearby supplies are good but higher than seasonal many other places.

Regionally, other vegetable features include eggplant, spinach, new sweet potatoes, broccoli, cauliflower and okra.

Fruit features include blueberries, strawberries, grapes, peaches, bananas, new apples, mangoes, limes and watermelon.

Grocery-shelf attractions, with peanut butter, include evaporated milk, cooking and salad oils, and mayonnaise.

Spa Is Oasis of Gambling in Bible Belt

By WICK TEMPLE

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—For nearly a century this resort city has been an oasis of gambling and whisky in a conservative, Bible-belt state.

It has been the hideout of gangsters. Its night clubs draw top talent. Across its gaming tables flow millions of dollars.

Hot Springs has a moratorium on Arkansas' stringent gambling laws and on regulations that allow only packaged liquor sales.

The rest of Arkansas, except for critical church groups, merely winks.

But there are rumblings of trouble in Hot Springs.

A bomb exploded in the plush Vapors night club and injured 12 persons. When prosecutor David Whittington began a crackdown on prostitution, his car was dynamited.

Whittington and city officials have been feuding over prostitution. The prosecutor says it is rampant but Mayor Dan Wolf and Police Chief Milford Sanders say there is no serious problem.

The last prosecutor who stirred up Hot Springs was Sid McMath, an ex-Marine who closed the casinos and bars in 1947. He was elected governor the next year and the places reopened. They've been going strong since.

Some gamblers say privately that Las Vegas or Chicago gambling syndicates are trying to move into Hot Springs and that the unsolved Vapors bombing Jan. 1 was their warning shot.

A strong talking point of pro-gambling forces has always been that the casinos are owned and operated by local people. U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy says he is checking that claim. New federal laws prohibit bringing equipment or people across state lines to engage in gambling.

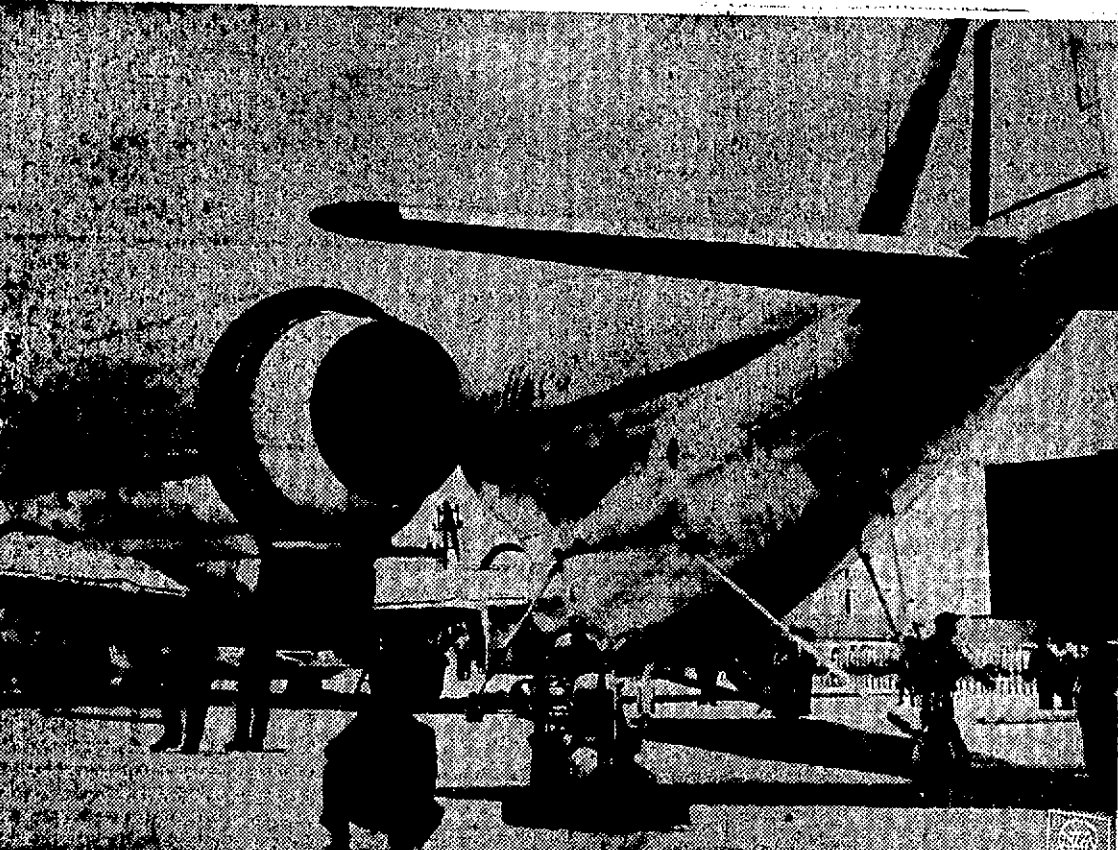

A federal grand jury investigated Hot Springs gambling in the light of the new laws but returned no indictments.

Leading spokesman for the gambling forces is state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst, son of a Hot Springs preacher. He advocates legalized gambling. Only legal betting in the state is on horse races at Hot Springs' Oaklawn Park and at a dog racing track in West Memphis.

Hurst, who has been indicted on federal income tax evasion charges, took on the churches earlier this year. He announced he would introduce a bill to legalize gambling. The churches put pressure on Gov. Orval E. Faubus

THE L. B. J. FAMILY: "The vice president enjoys his daughters even more now that they approach maturity." At left is Lynda Bird, 19, and Lucy Baines, 16.

WHALE OF A LOAD—Split right down the middle, a modified Boeing Stratocruiser known as the "Pregnant Guppy" swallows the largest cargo ever to be lifted by an airplane. Later, back in one piece, the plane successfully went through a test flight over Los Angeles, Calif. The cargo, an inert S-IV second stage of the giant Saturn rocket, weighed 20,379 pounds and took up an area 41 feet long and 18 feet in diameter. "Guppy" flights are expected to cut S-IV transportation time to Cape Canaveral from the three weeks now required by barge through the Panama Canal to about 12 hours.

and Faubus announced he would veto such a bill. Hurst didn't introduce it.

Their rural legislators offered a bill to establish a special State Police division to crack down on gambling, but Faubus' lieutenants killed it with a filibuster.

The governor says gambling, liquor and vice in Hot Springs are local problems and he won't step in unless he is asked. Former governors have taken the same position.

Hot Springs' mystery man is Owen (Owney) Madden, prohibition era beer baron and New York gang lord, who moved to the resort in 1933 after serving time in Sing Sing.

He lives an outwardly quiet life and claims he is retired. But there are reports that he owns some casino sites.

At one time such underworld figures as Legs Diamond, Pretty Boy Floyd and Lucky Luciano had the run of the city.

But things have changed. When three Chicago hoodlums showed up this year, Whittington met them at their hotel and told them to be out of town by dark. They went.

Sen. John L. McClellan D-Ark., put a crimp in Hot Springs' thriving book making business when his investigations Subcommittee closed the racing wires. Now the bookies operate on a bet today-pay tomorrow basis.

Hot Springs also is one of the leading cockfighting centers of the south. Several pits operate clandestinely from time to time.

The city levied a tax on casinos and used it to build parks and a municipal auditorium. The city has 22 swimming pools and is undergoing its biggest construction boom.

It has more per capita church construction than any other city in Arkansas. Its Easter sunrise service atop Hot Springs Mountain draws thousands, as does a candlelight Christmas ceremony.

It is the home of the Miss Arkansas pageant and draws a large share of conventions, including church meetings.

The beautiful Ouachita Mountain city of 30,000 is a hill cluttered with signs ("Free Beer on Monday") and is somewhat overrun with characters during the 43-day spring racing season. But it retains a unique atmosphere. Three big lakes nearby are havens for outdoor enthusiasts.

Hot Springs is a national park, and the government controls the privately-owned bath houses along Magnolia - shaded bathhouse row. Many doctors send patients to bathe in the thermal waters which emanate from springs deep in the earth.

Losses Deep in Wheat Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Losses ran deep in some wheat futures contracts most of the time today on the Board of Trade but other commodities were generally steady to strong.

Setbacks ranged to about two cents a bushel in wheat as liquidation broadened following a farming volume of commercial support in early transactions. Carol receipts today were estimated at: wheat 65 cars, corn 105, oats 38, rye none, barley 1, soybeans 2.

Woman Killed at Paragould

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Laura Kendall, 77, of Paragould, sizing "why" things work out the in which she was riding left state Highway 25 one mile west of Paragould, struck a driveway culvert and overturned.

State Trooper Charles Hampton said the car was driven by Mrs. James Kendall of Hot Springs, daughter-in-law of the victim. She and her two children, Susan Ann, 7, and Steven Ray, 14, were treated at a Paragould hospital and released.

Pair Charged in Mail Fraud

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Donald Bossi Jr., 26, and Marilyn G. Simmons, 33, are being held at Batesville for federal authorities. They are charged with mail fraud.

Deputy Sheriff Maurice Heston and State Trooper Buck Foley arrested the two after recognizing one of them in a passing car at Rosie, 10 miles southeast of Batesville.

Postal Inspector G. E. Head of Chicago said the mail fraud involved cashing bad checks in the Chicago and Detroit areas.

NAACP Asks FBI Probe of Shooting

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked the Justice Department to investigate the fatal shooting of a Negro youth by a member of a group of white persons at Marion, Ark., last Wednesday.

L. C. Bates of Little Rock, Arkansas field secretary for the NAACP, said today he had telegraphed Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy a request that the government investigate to determine whether the youth's civil rights had been violated.

Andrew Lee Anderson, 17, was shot in the back of the leg by a member of a group of citizens and deputy sheriffs which was chasing him. A white woman had reported that he tried to rape her 8-year-old daughter.

A coroner's jury ruled the shooting justifiable homicide because, it said, Anderson was fleeing arrest for investigation of a felony. The name of the person who fired the shot has not been made public. Anderson died from loss of blood in a West Memphis hospital.

Bates and 17 other Negroes from Crittenden County met Tuesday with Prosecutor A. S. Harrison in Blytheville to discuss the case. Bates quoted Harrison as saying he could not commit himself on any further steps in the case until he had read the transcript of the inquest. The transcript has not yet been filed with his office.

George Howard of Pine Bluff, an attorney and state NAACP president, asked for a copy of the transcript, Bates said.

"The Negro citizens of that county are very much worked up," Bates said. "They have a right to be. No black person is safe in that kind of atmosphere."

"We are going to pursue every legal means we possibly can," he said.

He said the fact that the youth ran from the group did not indicate guilt. "If I were cornered and saw several hostile men facing me, my impulse would be to run," he said.

Rights Issue Sidetracked by Governors

By JACK BELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington temporarily sidetracked today a Republican effort to force action on civil rights by the 55th annual Governors' Conference.

Rosellini, presiding as conference chairman, ruled out of order a motion by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon to suspend the rules for the introduction of a civil rights resolution.

Because of the scheduled arrival of Vice President Lyndon D. Johnson, the principal speaker at tonight's state banquet, Rosellini said there was no time at the session to act on Hatfield's motion.

Hatfield told his colleagues that his purpose was to bring before the conference "the most important issue before the country today" for action on a resolution which would put the governors on record for racial equality in all matters.

He said that a scheduled two-hour discussion of the issue was nothing more than "a civil rights matinee," because under the rules governors could not bring up any resolution or motion at that time.

However, Rosellini told Hatfield that a motion to suspend the rules, which requires three-fourths approval to become effective, would be in order at the afternoon session.

Hatfield and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had little hope for success in forcing the conference to take action on civil rights.

Democrats seemed likely to maintain the nearly solid party lineup by which they abolished the resolutions committee and resolutions along with it—by a 33-16 vote Monday.

Hatfield and Rockefeller held in reserve for possible use Wednesday a strategic plan to inject the civil rights issue into a GOP attack on President Kennedy's welfare legislative program.

Shoe Co. Workers Out on Strike

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — An International Shoe Co. crew went on strike Tuesday over what they termed an imbalance in production volume and wages.

The 72 employees who walked off their jobs all worked in the company's fitting department. The remainder of the firm's some 400 employees remained on their jobs.

Clifford Lewis, chairman of Local 228 of the United Shoe Workers of America (AFL-CIO), said the strike would be continued until certain grievances are eliminated.

The striking employees, paid by the piece for shoes fitted together, claimed the company was not giving them credit for all the shoes they produced.

A meeting of union and company officials over the dispute was expected to be held today.

Four Firms to Finance Helena Bridge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A combine of four investment companies offered a 4.2 per cent interest rate today on the Highway Department's $5,550,000 Helena Bridge bond refinancing proposal.

The bid by Raney Securities Co. and Stephens Investment Co., of Little Rock, White, Weld and Co., of New York, and Rowles, Winston Co., of Houston was the only one received.

The Highway Commission turned the bid over to its attorneys for investigation.

Acting Highway Director Ward Goodman said the new proposal would save $100,000 in interest and provide for paying off the bonds in 1987, instead of 1989 as in the original financing, which was at a 3.7 per cent interest rate.

But Goodman said the principal reason for the refinancing was that the new proposal would permit using bridge revenues to pay maintenance costs of about $60,000 a year.

Arkansas' share of this has been being paid from the general highway fund because the first financing agreement did not permit use of revenue money for maintenance.

Goodman said the refinancing was in line with the commission's original view that all costs of the Helena Bridge should be paid from revenues.

Counterfeiter Is Indicted

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas Phillips, 28, of Chicago, the first man arrested in the breakup of an alleged counterfeit ring the Secret Service said operated in Arkansas and six other states, was indicted Tuesday.

The indictment charged Phillips with passing counterfeit bills. He was arrested July 12 after a store cashier recognized a phony $5 bill from serial numbers printed in Chicago newspapers.

More than $75,000 may have been passed by the ring in Arkansas, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Utah, Ohio and Pennsylvania, agents said.

Four other Chicagoans are charged in the case, two with printing fake bills and two with passing them.

JFK's Rail Plan to His Advantage

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's plan for solving the railroad dispute—or at least postponing a showdown until after the 1964 election—should fry several kinds of fish, none of them to his disadvantage.

1. It should eliminate the dispute as an issue in the election campaign.
2. It should avoid getting labor in general mad at him.
3. It should take the railroad union leaders off the hook.
4. It should help the railroads begin saving money.

All this is conditioned on one thing: that the 11-man Interstate Commerce Commission act instead of stall.

Kennedy has asked Congress to empower the ICC, for a two-year period, to hand down decisions in this railroad-union argument which already has dragged on for four years.

He also wants the ICC to have authority to get a federal court injunction to stop a railroad strike if the unions don't like its decisions. This should save the country from a withering shutdown until at least 1965.

Thus the railroad case wouldn't be an issue in the 1964 election. After that a re-elected Kennedy or his successor would have until 1965 to face the problem again, if there is still one by then.

The plan as Kennedy devised it may cost him the votes of some railroad workers next year, if they lose their jobs through ICC decisions, but organized labor as a whole wouldn't have much reason to be sore at him.

It might have been very sore if, instead of this plan, he had asked Congress to force a settlement by compelling railroads and unions to submit to compulsory arbitration, a device unions and management both detest.

That would be naked use of government power. Kennedy in his message to Congress Monday also expressed distaste for settling disputes through compulsory arbitration.

But the very plan he worked out, and the way he worked it out, is in effect compulsory arbitration although he didn't dress it with that name. He made it sound much milder.

This is why: Since the ICC can hand down decisions, and can get a court injunction to prevent a strike if the unions resent the decisions, the result is that the unions will have to accept the ICC's findings. That's compulsory arbitration.

True, the decisions are supposed to last only for the two-year life of the ICC's authority. After that, supposedly, the decisions will have no effect and railroads and unions will be free to settle their differences themselves.

But if then a strike threatened again, the President would again step in by asking that the ICC's authority be renewed for another two years or he'd try some other method. But he wouldn't let a strike happen.

The ICC's almost total problem will be the manpower one. The railroads want to cut expenses—and presidential commissions and the Supreme Court have said they have a right to — by wiping out jobs which, they argue, have been rendered unnecessary by modernization.

The railroads want to eliminate thousands of jobs, mostly those of firemen who used to be needed to shovel coal in steam locomotives but now ride in diesel engines.

Under Kennedy's proposal men whose jobs are ordered eliminated by the ICC are to be transferred to other ones or, if they are laid off, are to get severance pay, like 60 per cent of their regular salary for three years, or other benefits.

Suppose that, for the two years before the ICC's authority ends, they've been laid off or removed to other jobs. When the ICC then no longer can give orders will the union leaders start another national crisis to get their jobs back?

They might try, but it's doubtful they would. Their cause would have lost much of its steam not only in the public mind but probably in the view of the other unionists who still had jobs. The excuse for a strike would be diminished.

Up to now union leaders—in the face of approval of job elimination by a presidential commission and the Supreme Court—have refused to yield. This is understandable.

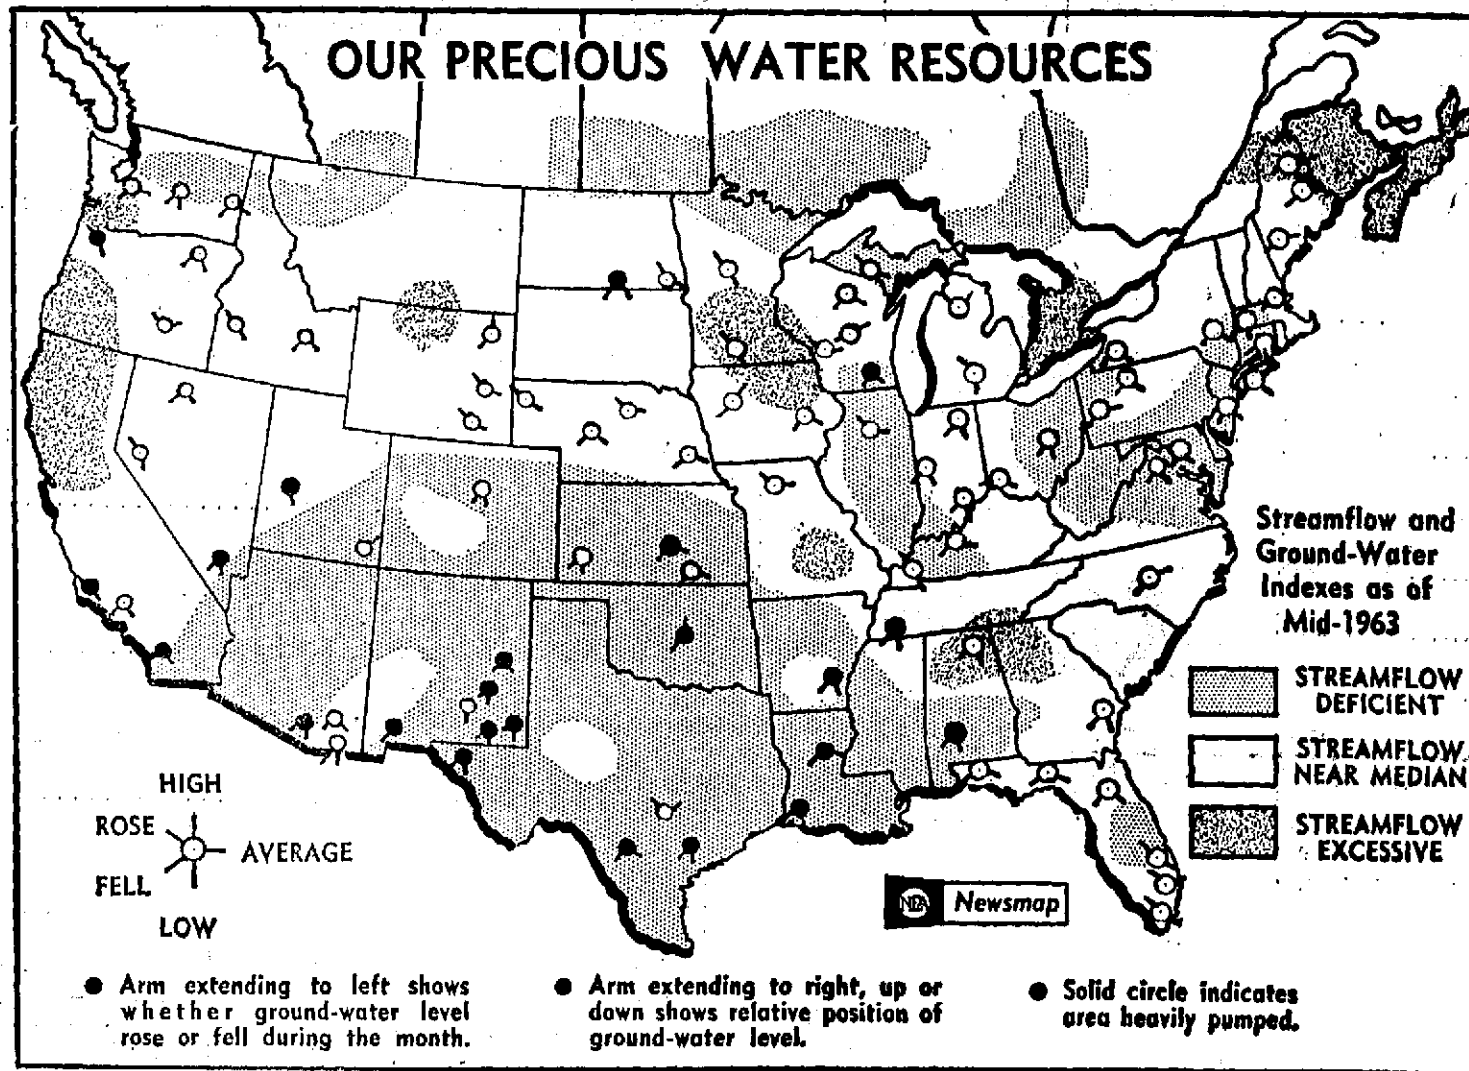

The leaders, elected by their union members, are paid to fight for them and their own jobs depend on their members' support. They can say they did all they could if now, under congressional approval, the ICC starts wiping out jobs.

They can truthfully say there's an end to how much fighting they do against the government. Thus the Kennedy plan is in a sense protection for the union leaders even though its purpose is to eliminate jobs.

From several standpoints, particularly a political one, the plan is shrewd although Kennedy has already been condemned for not taking a more direct, forceful

DOROTHY DIX

SON'S FUTURE VERSUS MOTHER'S HAPPINESS

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Help me decide where my duty lies. When very young, I met and married a boy as immature as I. It was a pure case of puppy love.

Our daughter came the first year. For her sake we honestly tried to make a go of our life together. The odds were against us. Never having finished high school my husband had to take what job he could get — this was just after World War II and there were too few men for every job. We struggled along until our little girl was school age, then I went to work, too. That helped stand to end the whole dispute fast instead of letting it stretch out.

materially. But disposition wise, we were further apart than ever. The fact that I was making twice as much as he didn't help.

Ten years later our second baby, a boy, was born. This necessitated giving up my job. Things got worse instead of better. I stuck it out till our daughter married, then I divorced. The court awarded me our 13-year-old son. He chose to live with his father. Life was lonely for me. I married a second time. The day of the wedding, my son ran away. He got into trouble and sought refuge at my home. His stepfather says that if the boy stays, he goes. I think a lot of my second husband but cannot see turning my back on my child when he needs help. Whatever shall I do?

—Despairing Wife and Mother

Dear Despairing: You have asked my advice on a very difficult problem without giving me certain essential information. Perhaps if I turn the tables and question you, your answers will help you in reaching a decision.

If the court awarded your son to you, why did he choose to live with his father?

Was your second husband fully aware at the time of your marriage that you had legal custody of this child?

Have you any idea why he ran away from his father and then turned to you?

Was this mere impulse, or a genuine demonstration that certain basic emotional and spiritual requirements were not being adequately met under his father's roof?

If the latter is true, are you in a position to meet these needs in a home where the stepfather is hostile?

Why the hostility?

Since a child's future as well as your own marital happiness is at stake, you three: the father, your current husband and yourself — should be adult enough to get together and decide what is best for the boy. Appeal to the two men on this basis. If they balk, go back to the judge who awarded you the child, tell him the facts and enlist his help. This situation calls for action.

As the boy's mother, you are the one to take it. Present a united front to your boy, who just might be playing both ends against the middle. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "How to Get Along with An Adolescent."

Dear Helen: All this talk about teen marriages going on the rocks is bologna. I was 15 and my husband 18 when we married. That's eight years ago. We've gone through good and bad times together, are proud of our two children and couldn't be happier. What have you got to say to that?

—Mrs. Disagree

Dear Mrs. Disagree: Congratulations! Close to 400,000 women will be divorced this year, adding to the almost 2,000,000 who are already divorced. More than 3,000,000 children have parents who are either divorced or separated. I welcome word from those who are not swelling these frightening tolls.

Dear Helen: I am being married in September. My fiancé hasn't asked my brother to be in the wedding party and this makes my mother very unhappy. My brother was married to my fiancé's sister. They divorced. I say if my fiancé doesn't want my brother as an usher, that's his business. As a matter of fact he plans on asking his cousin. My mother thinks I should insist upon him asking my brother. Should I keep quiet or speak up? —In-a-Dither

Dear Dither: You should speak up, but not to your fiancé. Your mother needs to be reminded that the main purpose of the wedding is the happiness of the principals, not hers. It's too bad that what should be a joyous occasion is causing friction over such a relatively unimportant point. Both bride and groom have every right to choose their attendants without coercion by anyone. I'm sure your mother doesn't want to run the risk of antagonizing her future son-in-law.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Highway Scales to Be Checked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Highway Department said Tuesday complaints had led to a check of the 22 portable and 15 platform scales used by the Weights and Standards Division.

Life's Biggest Problem Is Making Small Decision -- the Small One Can Destroy You

By MAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato: Life's biggest problem is making small decisions. It isn't by gulps but by gnats bites that most of us are finally destroyed.

The great questions of existence are pretty well beyond our individual control.

Since the vast decisions of civilization are out of our reach, why isn't everyone cheerfully fatalistic? It is because of those nagging little decisions still left us. They wear us down and out in time.

None is really important in itself, but they all add up to ulcers and tranquilizers.

Take an ordinary man waking up on an ordinary day. He has to decide:

"Can I get one more shave out of this blade, or must I put in a new one?"

"I can't find the toothpaste. If I don't brush my teeth, will they fall out before nightfall?"

"What causes that brown taste this morning? Too much soda in the scotch? Should I switch to fill-or cigarettes?"

"Where's that other shoe? Oh, there you are. Now, which shoe shall I put on first?"

"Why did I put on socks this color? What tie have I got that'll match them?"

"I'm sick and tired of eating noisy cereals for breakfast. But if I ask my wife to fix me a silent cereal, is it worth the fight? And what'll she say when I ask her for an extra buck for lunch?"

"Gee, I'm late. Shall I grab a cab or wait for the bus? Okay. I'll take the cab. Can I get away with a dime tip—or might I need him again sometime?"

Our hero arrives at work already wearing of decisions. But during the day he must also decide—

Whether he can safely postpone until tomorrow some problem that didn't fade away yesterday.

When to laugh as the boss tells a joke, when the boss himself reached the punch line.

Whether the vitamin capsule he

Dies in Wreck

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Charles H. Myers, 32, of Bossier City, La., died in an El Dorado hospital today of injuries suffered last Wednesday when his foreign station wagon went off U.S. Highway 167 eight miles south of Hampton and smashed into a bridge post.

forgot to swallow at lunch will do him any good if he swallows it half an hour later.

Whether he can safely sneak out 10 minutes early to be sure of getting a bus seat on the long voyage home.

He creeps feebly across this threshold only to confront more tense decisions:

If he picks up the cat by the scruff of her neck and throws her out of his favorite armchair, will she turn him to the ASPCA?

Will his children become juvenile delinquents in revenge if he insists on tuning the television set to the program he wants instead of the program they want?

Decisions, decisions, decisions—all day long, every day. Enough to crack a fellow's mind. As he turns restlessly in bed, he wonders if he'd sleep better if he used a smaller pillow. Or should he get up and take a pill? Oops—there's another decision.
